One large establishment has fitted up its immense show windows with three different scenic effects, in which all the actors and actresses participating are elegantly dressed dolls. The first is that of a grand ball where numerous couples are in the act of waltzing, others are evidently engaged in deep flirtation, with attitudes and manner of the most approved style, while on the wall seats are the mamas and papas in their gray wigs and elderly toilettes, looking on with the utmost complacence. The music furnished for this grund ball is a musical box in the form of a piano, with an imitation accompaniment of two violinists, while the cornetist, with distended cheeks, seemingly adds much to the cheeks, seem ngly adds much to the corchestra.
